

Sector Intelligence: Infrastructure

Discover risks. Seize opportunities

Find out how and where your business risks are most concentrated. And discover the potential for investment opportunities. Our Sector Intelligence offers complete coverage of global infrastructure markets.

We understand the challenges you face

- Companies in the infrastructure sector are facing a challenging market outlook. Slow to adapt, they must now harness disruptive building technologies to remain competitive. Rising political risk, elections and changes in government spending policy are putting infrastructure investment at risk. Belt & Road projects in high-risk markets face delays or cancellations.
- Our solution will help you to formulate the best investment strategy for your business, in a challenging and ever-changing environment.

Never miss a trend, risk or opportunity again

- Our experts have a proven track record in monitoring developments, identifying trends and uncovering the latest business strategies in your markets. We analyze the threats and opportunities to help you keep ahead of the curve.
- Our coverage includes analysis of global regulatory changes, major investments and projects. We track the development and impact of big data, the Internet of Things and disruptive technology, including building materials innovation, 3D printing, robotics, modular construction, smart sensors, drones and dynamic toll road pricing.
- Our wide-ranging intelligence also includes detailed analysis of Belt & Road initiatives with unique insights from our frontier and emerging markets specialists.
